INFORMATION FOR VISITING TEACHERS

DEVELOPING A LESSON PLAN

In order to get the most out of a visit to The National Civil War Museum, you may want to visit the Museum before bringing your class. This way, certain features or areas of particular interest may be noted and prepared for. Our staff will be happy to meet with teachers to develop special presentations for their classes and to answer any questions.

ALLOW SUFFICIENT TIME FOR THE TOUR

We suggest that school groups allow at least two hours to tour the Museum. If you are bringing a large group to the Museum, you may want to divide your group into sections of approximately 25 students or less, with one chaperone per five students. With such large groups, one section begins their visit in the galleries, while the remaining sections listen to a presentation by our staff. An additional group is sent into the galleries every 15-20 minutes. This staggered entry into the Museum prevents crowding and confusion.

Please check-in at the Gift Shop when you arrive at the Museum. You can speed-up this arrival procedure by having an exact count of your group and by completing the “School Tour Ticket Count” sheet in this packet).

Be sure to allow sufficient time in your tour schedule for traffic delays, checking-in, rest room breaks, educational presentations, lunch, shopping, and travel preparations.

If you find that you are running late, please telephone us at 717-260-1861.

FINDING HISTORY

One of the most effective ways to actively involve your students in a visit to the Museum is to have a list of questions that they can answer as they view and listen to the exhibits. You may either develop your own list of questions, or the Museum can email you a copy of a Museum Scavenger Hunt that you may print and give to your class! Please inform us in advance if you would like a copy of our Scavenger Hunt emailed to you. The Museum also has a supply of clipboards to loan to visiting students, but we ask that students please bring their own pencils.

TEACHER’S EXHIBIT GUIDE

We also have an “Exhibit Guide for Teachers” that describes of our exhibit galleries, video programs, life size dioramas, narrated maps, and educational programs. A copy of it may be printed from our website at <http://nationalcivilwarmuseum.org/?q=node/8>.

TEACHER DISCOUNT IN THE GIFT SHOP

To assist teachers in obtaining materials for the classroom, The National Civil War Museum offers teachers a 10% discount on items in our Gift Shop.

INFORMATION FOR LARGE GROUPS

The galleries of The National Civil War Museum are laid-out in chronological order. It begins with the causes of the war and then takes visitors through each year of the war and concludes with the post-war period. Therefore, all visitors should start in the first gallery to properly follow the narrative and the sequence of events.

We recommend that schools with a large number of students on a field trip be divided into smaller groups for touring the Museum. Approximately 25 (or less) students per group is usually a fairly manageable number.

The grid below shows a typical sequence for moving 100 students in four groups through the Museum. Each of the groups enters the first gallery as soon as the preceding group has moved into the second gallery. There is a video in the first gallery that plays for about 13 minutes, so it normally takes about 15-20 minutes for most groups to complete the first gallery.

While each group is waiting for their turn to begin touring the galleries, they will hear an educational presentation in our classroom.

Teachers should review the section on "Educational Presentations" in the "Exhibit Guide for Teachers." The Museum staff has several standard presentations but will try to prepare special programs to meet your specific lesson plans. PLEASE NOTE: Educational Presentations should be requested in advance.

Once divided, our 100-person tour group would look something like this:
